sharks, and were finally orced to violate the tradition of their calling never to lose a captured whale.

According to the story of the men, whale was sighted off the Virginia coast early one morning. Two boats were lowered for the chase, one in charge of Mate Joseph Brown, and the other commanded by the second mate. Each crew put a harpoon into the quarry, but while they were making their capture they lost sight of their ship in the fog.

The whale was lashed between the two boats and the men laid a course toward the coast. Great schools of sharks were attracted by the carcass. and for two days the men fought these scavengers with lances and cars. Finally they became exhausted, and the whale was cut loose and given over to the sharks. The men were without food and water until they were picked up by the Norwegian steamer Skard, bound from Newport News for Christiania. Later they were transferred to the steamer Piedmont, which ran into Vineyard sound, where the whalemen aga'n took to their own boats and sailed across Buzzards bay to this

STUNG BY HIS CONSCIENCE

Paroled Convict Asks to Be Sent Back to Prison at Michigan City, Ind.

Vincennes, Ind.-Charles Bays, fiftyone, walked into the police station here and asked whether he was wanted at Michigan City for violating his parole. Chief of Police Adams could find nothing in the records from Michigan City, but a telegram from Warden Fogarty stated that Bays was wanted and to hold him. Bays was sentenced from one eight years from Dubois county in 1910 for the theft of a half gallon of whisky. He has served three years, but his term was lengthened when he failed to report while on parole. He said he became intoxicated several months ago, failed to report, and his conscience has been hurting him ever since. He was returned to Michigan City, but local people have become interested and may appeal to the governor for a pardon.

WON RACE WITH A COUGAR

McGhie, Motorist, Tells a Thrilling Yarn of an Experience in Washington.

Everett, Wash.—The story of a race between an automobile and a big cougar is related by S. P. McGhie, who drove the car in the unusual sporting event a few days ago, while returning from Mount Rainler with a party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Pritchard and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Graves.

"Whatcher want it for?" asked the Soon after leaving the National Park Inn they saw the animal coming up the road. As they approached it stopped. The road at that point runs along a high ledge, precipitous on each side, and the animal had no other chance to escape than to run down the road. Mr. McGhie took up the chase "stepping upon" his eight-cylinder car for probably half a mile. The animal saw that it was about to be overtaken, leaned to the roadside and crouching close to the rocks, snarled as the machine rushed on.

Yez aught killed. The fight between the bear and the bull occurred in the pasture near Mr. Gjora's house and awakened his family, but by the time they reached the scene of battle the bear reached the scene of battle the bear escaped into the woods. The same day a she-bear was killed by John Foote, an Indian, who lives on the west shore of Prairie lake. The old bear was accompanied by a cub, which Mr. Foote captured, but had to let him go, as he got too frisky.

Friendly and Feed Them Morsels of Food.

What squirrels are in Central park New York, doves are on the Common.

in Central park squirrels scamper over the walks and the lawns, climb trees and approach people sitting on the benches to be fed. They hop up on the benches and on to friendly people's shoulders and they eat out of people's hands. On Boston common the doves are just as sociable.

They appear to depend upon the people in the park for their subsistence and they are very tame. They walk along the paths quite undisturbed and approach people without the slightest fear. Both children and adults feed them.

Facing the east side of the common is Tremont street, a busy shopping thoroughfare. Along the north end of the common runs Park street, from Tremont to Beacon, at the statehouse. On the Trement street side of the common within its borders and not far from Park street are entrances to two of Boston's subways. This northeast corner of the common at Tremont and Park streets is paved with concrete, making there a plaza perhaps a hundred feet square.

It is a busy spot, with all of a busy city's stirring activity; but into this plaza the doves come just the same and with all their accustomed serenity. In this busy place the other day plished are constantly being received, stood a tall young man feeding doves. of which there were thirty or forty about him, some a few feet away and placidly walking toward him or around him, and some gathered immediately in front of him, under his hands, while occasionally one would fly up to alight on his shoulders.

Frequently a dove appeared perched upon his head or one stood upon his shoulder; often one alighted upon the BLACK LOSSES SURELY PREVENTED the food and ate out of it. Once a proced fresh, reliable; preferred by dove that had proced it. Once a fingers of the hand in which he held dove that had perched on his shoulder stepped from there with calm deliberation, step by step, down his upper arm and then out along his forearm to eat out of his hand.

So, in one way and another but ever tranquil in the face of the surrounding activity, they kept up their evolutions about him. Nearby stood a small boy dropping crumbs and he had a few doves around him, but most of the doves seemed to find the tall young man the greater attraction.

Hint for camping and fishing par ties. Many of you have encountered the annoying experience of finding yourselves miles from a store and all the matches in your possession so damp that they could not be used. A fact worth knowing is that matches can be made waterproof without injury by dipping them in very hot melted paraffin, allow them to cool and they are ready for use. The paraffin does not interfere with their use in the regular way and they are absolutely protected from dampness.

Sea Sieds for Coast Defense.

Sea sleds are the latest craft to be considered by the United States navy for coast defense work. The navy is experimenting with a half-motor boat, half-hydroaeroplane, which neither flies over the water nor cuts through it, but skips along its surface. A 24foot boat of this type has made 361/2 miles an hour at a navy test. It is hoped to obtain a boat that will carry men at 55 or 60 miles an hour. It is said 200 of such craft could be built at the cost of a single scout cruiser and would be much more effective.

Food for the Business Trenches

It takes the highest type of nerve and endurance to stand the strain at the battle front of modern business.

Many fail. And often the cause is primarily a physical one-improper food-malnutrition. It is a fact that much of the ordinary food is lacking in certain elements—the mineral salts -which are essential to right building of muscle, brain and nerve tissue.

Grape-Nuts

made of whole wheat and barley, contains these priceless nerve and brain-building elements in highest degree.

Grape-Nuts food is easy to digest-nourishing-economical-delicious, and as a part of the menu of modern business men and women helps wonderfully in building up the system for strenuous demands - and keeping it there.
